

APAcalypse

APAcalypse is a APA dedicated to the art of Role-playing that is published 6 times a year. The subject matter included within the articles must, in one form or another, deal with Role-playing in some fashion. This includes anything that the author/artist can justify, in good conscious, to the members of this chronicle as gaming related material.

Each issue is host to a different (usually holy-text related) theme that members are welcome to follow when writing their articles. Members are not limited to the theme of the issue. No article will be rejected so long as it is role-playing related and does not break an existing copyright.

We've been counting down since issue 10 towards the inevitable APAcalypse at issue 0. Currently we are at issue T 74, and counting...

Each member is expected to contribute 10 pages of role playing-related material and 3 pages of commentary on other member's works (also known as Mailing Comments) every three issues. No member may miss two issues in a row.

All contributions are photocopied by the members (double sided please) 20 times and must be given to the DM Team by deadline. Issues are available for around $3 an issue for members, or $5 an issue (if there are any remaining) for non-members.

If you're interested in joining you can try it out once to see how you like it. Guests may submit their articles (20 copies, double sided please) and receive a free copy in which their articles appear.

Our next theme is:

Councilors

Everyone has a guide, a councilor, and advisor. Perhaps this source of advice is evil, perhaps not. Who are the councilors of your realm? And just how much power do they wield?

Due: Friday, June 4th , 1999 Issue T-73

Quote: II Chronicles 22:3 "He also walked in the ways of the house of Ahab: for his mother was his councilor to do wickedly. "
